Elmsford, NY 10523

June 19, 2018

Dear Incoming 3rd Grade Families,

Congratulations on making it through another school year! I hope the next few weeks provide you all with some well-earned rest and relaxation! I'm excited for our upcoming year together, and look forward to working with you all! In order to ensure a smooth transition into 3rd grade, I've attached a few items in the packet. Included are a supply list of materials, math and reading homework, and a summer reading list.

Regarding the supply list, OLMC has once again partnered with School Tool Box this year to provide our families with the opportunity to order your items. You are able to place your order online by visiting the site and ordering your child's supply kit. All orders are due by Friday, July 13. The supplies will be delivered to OLMC and be ready for your child on the first day of school. If you would rather shop for your own supplies, you may do that as well, but School Tool Box provides a more cost effective way of doing your back-to-school shopping.

A list of suggested reading books for the summer is also included in the summer work packet. Your child can choose a book that's not included on the list if they would like, it just needs to be grade level appropriate. Students must read at least 3 books and complete the two book report forms included in the packet. In addition, the attached short stories must be read and the questions must be completed.

The addition and subtraction sheets must be completed as well. It is important that children practice their addition and subtraction facts throughout the summer, as it is important that they come to 3rd grade with a strong understanding of their facts. We'll be learning multiplication, division, and fractions next year, and it is vital that they know basic addition and subtraction.

Every bit of practice helps! In addition, a letter regarding Mathletics is attached to the packet, and children should put in at least three sessions a week on there. Any certificates they earn can be printed and brought to school on the first day.

If you have any questions regarding the supply list or summer work, please don't hesitate to contact me via email at tjmasella@olmc.ws. Best wishes for a happy, healthy, and relaxing summer! I'm looking forward to seeing you all in September!

Sincerely,

Friends Helping Friends

By Kelly Hashway

Jared put on his coat and backpack and walked out of school to catch his bus home. His backpack weighed him down with all the materials he needed to finish his science fair project this weekend.

"Hey, Jared!" Carlos yelled, running up to him. "My dad's running the park clean-up this weekend. Can you help out?"

"Um..." Jared knew he didn't have time to help, but he didn't want to disappoint Carlos. "I guess I can."

"Great. Thanks!" Carlos said, waving goodbye.

Jared stepped onto the bus and took his seat. He was going to have to stay up late tonight to work on his project so he could help Carlos in the morning.

"Jared," Chianne said, sitting down next to him. "I've been looking for you. I have to walk Mrs. Vanderhoof's dogs this weekend. Do you think you could help me?"

"Um..." Jared knew Mrs. Vanderhoof's dogs had to be walked three times a day. How would he manage to fit that in on top of everything else? "I guess I can."

"Great!" Chianne waved goodbye as the bus pulled up to their stop.

Jared's backpack felt even heavier as he walked into the house and flopped down on the couch.

"Rough day?" his mother asked.

"More like rough weekend. I have to finish my science fair project, help Carlos with the park clean-up, and help Chianne walk Mrs. Vanderhoof's dogs."

"Sounds like you agreed to too many things this weekend," his mother said.

"I know, but Carlos and Chianne are my friends. I couldn't say 'no' to them. I didn't want to let them down." Jared stared at his mom. "What should I do?"

"I'm glad you want to help your friends, but you need to have time for your own things, too."

Jared knew she was right. "Maybe I can tell Carlos I can only help for two hours in the morning. And I can probably help Chianne walk Mrs. Vanderhoof's dogs early in the morning, but not at lunchtime or in the evening." Jared's stomach flopped. "Mom, do you think they'll get mad?"

"They're your friends. Tell them you need time to finish your science fair project. They'll understand."

Jared nodded and got the phone. He told Carlos and Chianne the truth. As soon as he hung up, he turned to his mom. "They're fine with it, and they both offered to help with my project, too."

"I knew it would work out," Mom said.

Jared smiled. "Yeah, because friends help each other out."

Hunting for Shark Teeth

by Kelly Hashway

Trina squished her toes in the wet sand. She'd spent every morning that week searching the beach for a shark tooth. Everyone said Myrtle Beach was famous for shark teeth. But Trina hadn't found a single one.

Something pointy and T-shaped caught her eye. She reached for it and held it up against the shark tooth necklace her parents had bought her at one of the tourist shops. It wasn't exactly the same, but it kind of looked like a shark tooth.

"Did you find one?" her father asked.

Trina shrugged. "It looks like a shark tooth, but it might just be a seashell."

"Let me see," her father said, reaching for it. He brought it up to his face and turned it all around. Then he held it up to the sun and examined it some more. "It could be a shark tooth."

Trina didn't want to be unsure. She wanted a shark tooth. And not one that her parents bought at a store. She had to find one for herself.

Her father held it out to her. "Here."

"If we can't be sure it's a shark tooth, then I don't want it," Trina said.

Her father patted her shoulder and put the possible shark tooth in his pocket. Trina continued searching among the seashells. Out of the corner of her eye, she saw her father walk a little way down the beach. Trina searched and searched. But all she found were shells and a broken sand dollar.

"Trina, it's time to go in," her mother said, folding up the beach chair.

"Just a few more minutes," Trina said.

"Sorry, honey. We have reservations for brunch, and you need to get all that sand off you before we go."

Trina stood up and brushed the sand from her shorts. She'd be leaving in the afternoon, so this was her last chance to find a shark tooth. She stared at the beach and sighed.

"Trina!" her father said, running up to her. "I asked a few people on the beach if they thought this was a shark tooth and they all said it could be. I think you should keep it." He handed the tooth to her.

Trina ran her finger over the sharp point at the top. Maybe it was a shark tooth. Maybe it wasn't. Either way it was pretty cool looking, and she had found it herself.

"Yeah, I think I will keep it."
